

LAUNCH YOUR FUTURE:

Three Reasons You'll Excel with the University of Delaware Graduate College

We know you're ambitious and busy, and we know what it means to find the perfect graduate school to help you reach your goals. So, we'll get straight to the point. Learn the top three reasons the University of Delaware can get you where you want to go.

1. Our degrees are relevant, innovative and career focused.

Data from the Bureau of Labor Statistics shows that graduates with their master's degrees are in high demand in healthcare, finance, computer science, engineering, information systems and statistics.

So when you pursue a degree with the University of Delaware, you can rest assured you're preparing well for a strong future. We offer a range of graduate programs tailored to meet the demands of these rapidly growing fields, including a Master of Science in Environmental Science and Management, Master of Public Policy, Master of Science in Disaster Science and Management, Master of Public Administration (also offered online), Master of Education in Literacy and Master of Education in Educational Technology (also offered online).

2. We offer countless opportunities to practice what you're learning in the classroom.

Everything we do is designed with the future in mind. You'll graduate with the skills needed to grow as a professional through experiences in the lab (we receive major funding and grants from national organizations) or working on an epidemiology case study. We also support you in finding real-world opportunities, such as interning at a local organization (the state is known for its focus on banking, financial services and pharmacy, to name a few). You'll benefit from our prime location, just two hours from New York City and Washington, D.C. and just one hour from Philadelphia.

$184.3M

IN SPONSORED RESEARCH PROGRAMS, PUTTING UD AMONG THE TOP 3% OF INSTITUTIONS NATIONWIDE

3. You'll be supported by a diverse community that's committed to your success.

The UD family is one that includes experienced faculty and eager students from all walks of life and unique backgrounds. We take pride in providing a community where all are welcome, and we encourage every voice to be heard. That's also why we're committed to every individual's success by providing top-notch individualized attention, contact with faculty and student resources.

If you're ready to excel in a University of Delaware graduate program, you're invited to apply today! There's a special offer when you submit your application, including immediate access to admission guidance as soon as you start the process, the ability to apply with unofficial transcripts and more.

Questions? We'd love to help. Give us a call at 302-831-2129 or email gradadmissions@udel.edu.

14

GRADUATE PROGRAMS AMONG THE TOP 50 BEST IN THE NATION